Week beginning Monday March 22nd 2021

Thought for the week:

“A good head with a good heart is always the best combination.”

Dear Parents,

Coronavirus/National Day of Remembrance. Next week school will mark 12 months since we all entered lockdown for the first time. Towards the end of March last year was a surreal time in school with nobody really sure what was happening or what was going to happen. Personally, I thought things would return to “normal” much sooner than they have; indeed, we are all still waiting for things to get back to normal one year later. School has remained open throughout the pandemic but alas not for everyone, the children have missed a significant chunk of last year and this and the staff have had to work in a way none of ever expected to do.

The past year has seen so many people affected in lots of different ways. People have been asked to shield, families have been unable to meet, care homes have not allowed visitors and tragically, many people have succumbed to the virus. Our school community, like every other, has been affected with some families now dealing with the grief of losing a loved one.

Next week we will unveil a plaque in our prayer garden as a permanent memorial to all those that have been affected by coronavirus and the children will complete various activities in class reflecting on the past 12 months. Mr Barton will lead a virtual assembly on Tuesday to begin the day, a day of reflection, a day of prayer and a day of remembrance. Thank you in advance to Mr Barton for his work in organising the day.

FSM Vouchers. The vouchers will be emailed out in the final week of term to eligible families. The office will text relevant families as and when the vouchers will be accessible.

St Patrick's Day. Belated Happy St Patrick's Day and thanks for supporting “green day” so enthusiastically.

Shakespeare Week. Thanks to Mrs Heslegrave and Ms McCarron for organising Shakespeare week in school, please look at our Twitter feeds for examples of some super work this week.

Music lessons. Violins and brass began in earnest this week, thanks to all those involved. It was lovely to hear trombones, trumpets and cornets filling the air once more.
